EUROP 501: Food Culture in Europe

Professor Emily Schuckman Matthews
THURS: 4pm-6:40pm, schedule # 33037

If you love food, you should consider enrolling in this new class!

Join us on a gastronomic journey through Europe as we explore the role of food in European Culture including food traditions, regional distinctions and the daily routines connected with food sourcing, preparation and consumption. We will discuss the influence of colonialism and immigration on European food culture, the politics of food in the EU, and efforts to create a more sustainable and eco-friendly food culture. Throughout the semester, we will have the opportunity to prepare and taste various foods from Europe!